

How to Create Your Own Personal Advisory Board

Questions:

- How many times has a friend informed you that they serve on this committee or that committee?
- How many times have you participated on a local charity board/committee?
- Why is it important to serve on these committees as a volunteer?

Answers:

- Friends on boards/committees have a need to help and provide their input to make causes better!
- Friends who care volunteer!
- It is important to serve on committees because without volunteers, nothing would ever get accomplished!

Benefits of Establishing Your Own Personal Board of Advisors:

- Friends will see you and respect you more for your drive and planning
- Colleagues will respect you more and will feel empowered by your unique plan of action
- You will create energy around you

- Two, three and yes four and five “thinking heads” are better than “Yours”!
- You will establish a real time line for your “Mission” which is your personal mission statement for success and professional growth!

What is your mission?

- The mission is YOU and what you can establish to help the industry and individuals who depend on you to reach their goals.

You will set yourself apart from the crowd!
